

3,000 GOOD THINGS PODCAST GUIDE

USE THIS GUIDE DURING SUPERVISION, TEAM MEETINGS OR TRAININGS, TO BUILD YOUR TEAM'S KNOWLEDGE ABOUT PCSAO'S SHARED PRACTICE MODEL: PACT

EPISODE 10: Six Reasons Why This is the BEST Time Ever to Work in Child Welfare

In this conversation, Mike and Ashley discuss the evolving landscape of child welfare with their guest Johana, who shares insights from her 36 years of experience. They explore six reasons why this is the BEST time ever to work in child welfare while highlighting the need for open-mindedness and continued education in the field.

PACT PROFILE: BEING OPEN MINDED

Believing that there is more than one way to address a challenge and that providing people an opportunity to contribute may provide a solution that otherwise may not have been available.

TEAM DISCUSSION:

- Do you have any biases that are preventing you from being open-minded in your daily work?
- Name the biases, and discuss ways this hinders your engagement, creativity and support with the families you serve.
- Discuss strategies with your team to learn more about your biases or misinformation.

CLICK TO LEARN MORE ABOUT PACT HERE:

OVERVIEW OF THE PACT MODEL

PACT BEHAVIORAL RESEARCH BRIEF

PACT 7 GUIDING PRINCIPLES

Do you have a success story
you want to share?

Reach out to Ashley Roy at ashley@pcsao.org

You can access this week's episode through the PACT LAB Weekly Update email or on Spotify at 3,000 Good Things. While you're there, like and subscribe to help us share the great work being done by amazing caseworkers and supervisors like you!